This presentation is to tell the Board about the Annual Report for 2010 – 2011.

- What is in the report
- Where the information came from to write the report
- Who has checked the report
- What happens next

Why have we written an Annual Report?

- At the end of 2009 the Department of Health sent us a good practice guide for Partnership Boards.
- This is a guide to help all Partnership Boards work as well as possible.
- One of the things the guide said was that all Partnership Boards should write an annual report.
- This will help us to know about people and services in Leicestershire.
- It will help us decide what is most important, and check what is changing.

Report
2011

Changes from the Annual Report last year

Annual Report 2010

- Last year all 152 Partnership Boards filled in an Annual Report
- The Government said the reports show that all Partnership Boards want to make life better for people with learning disabilities and their families
- There were lots of examples of really good work and good ideas that we can all share
- Lots of people said the reports were too long and too complicated
- This year the form we have to fill in is shorter, but the questions are still quite complicated

Changes from the Annual Report last year

- This year the report asks questions about the things the Government has said are the most important parts of Valuing People Now
- They are Health, Housing and Employment
- It also asks us for examples of good ideas and projects that we want to share with everyone
- Lots of the questions are different from last year, so it is difficult to compare with last year's report

Section 1. Local Picture

This part of the report asks

- What information have we got in the Joint Strategic Needs Assessment and how does it help us plan the right services (the Joint Strategic Needs Assessment is a big report with information from health and social care, all about people in Leicestershire and the services and support they need)
- How many adults with learning disabilities and how many young people with learning disabilities are known to Leicestershire County Council
- How much money is spent on services for people with learning disabilities
- How many people are using personal budgets

Section 1. Local Picture

What have we said?

There are 1369 adults with learning disabilities known to Leicestershire County Council at the end of March 2011.

Information from the Joint Strategic Needs Assessment has helped get better value for money services for people with high support needs, and for young people in transition (going from children's to adults services). There is still a lot of work to do to make the learning disability information in the Joint Strategic Needs Assessment really useful.

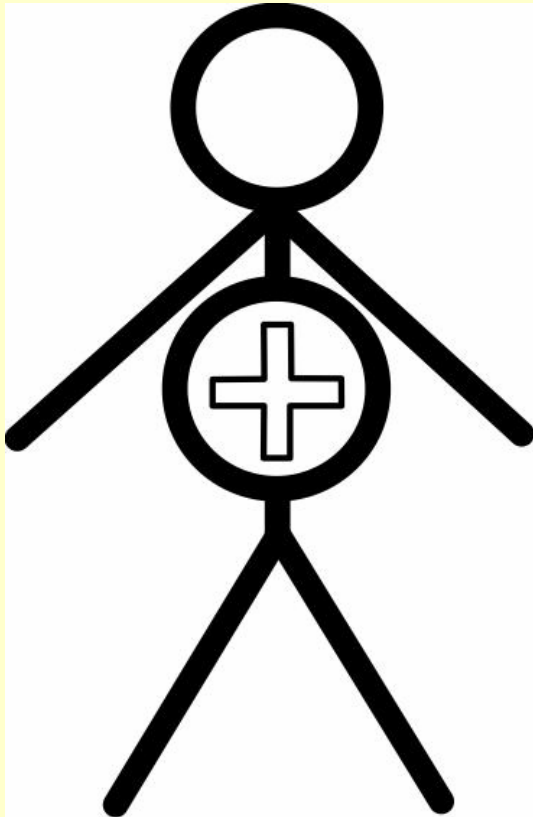

The numbers of people with learning disabilities using personal budgets is growing.

The information came from the people who plan and buy services and the people who collect information for the County Council.

Section 2. Health

This part of the report asks

Did Leicestershire have a Big Health Day in 2010?

If we had a Big Health Day in 2010, what did we find out about health services for people with learning disabilities and did we write an action plan to make services better?

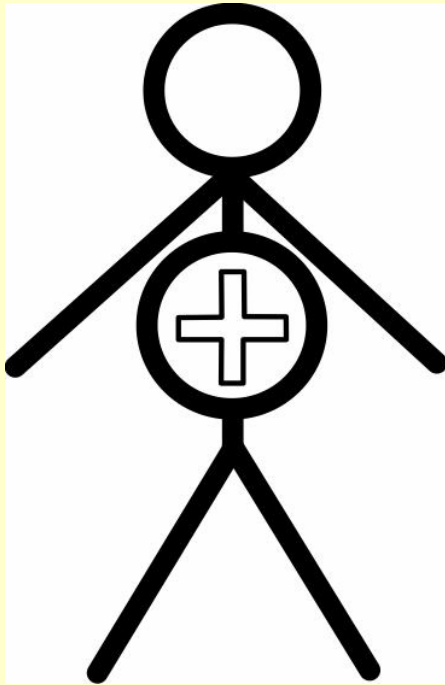

How many people with learning disabilities had an annual health check?

What are the health things we are doing really well in Leicestershire that we want to share with the rest of the country?

Section 2. Health

What have we said?

We had a very good Big Health Day in 2010. The action plan from the Big Health day was agreed by the big bosses of Health in the East Midlands

In the 4 main sections of the Big Health Day we scored 3 greens and 1 amber 1264 people with learning disabilities had an annual health check in 2010-11. That is 240 more than the year before.

Lots of people said they get good services from people like local doctors and dentists

The information came from Sam, the Lead Health Facilitator

We have included 6 examples of projects that work really well

Section 3. Housing

This part of the report asks

- Does the County Council have really good information about the housing and support needs of people with learning disabilities
- How many people with learning disabilities live in their own home or with family
- How much money is spent on residential and nursing homes
- How many people with learning disabilities from Leicestershire live in services outside of Leicestershire
- Do we have a plan to support more people into supported living
- What are the housing things we are doing really well in Leicestershire that we want to share with the rest of the country?

Section 3. Housing

What have we said?

- We have some good information about the housing and support needs of people with learning disabilities.
- There are more people in supported living in 2010-11 than there were in 2009-10 and there is less money being spent on residential and nursing homes.
- There are 177 adults and 19 young people from Leicestershire in services outside of Leicestershire
- Most services are provided by independent and voluntary sector providers
- see the chart – the purple bit is independent and voluntary services, the blue bit is Local Authority services and the yellow bit is Direct Payments
- The County Council has plans to help more people get supported living, but they haven't said how many people. There are actions in the plan.

Section 3. Housing

Where did we get the information?

- Some information came from the person who is working on a project to get more supported living for people in Leicestershire.
- Some information came from the people who plan and buy services.
- Some information came from the people who pay for special college places
- Some information came from workers in the learning disability services
- Some of the information came from the big plan for supported living

Section 4. Employment

This part of the report asks

- How many of the people with learning disabilities, known to the County Council, are working. This is broken down into paid work and voluntary work. And people working more than 16 hours a week and less than 16 hours a week.
- Do we have an up to date plan for Valuing Employment Now Is there a real plan for each young person to get a job when they leave education
- How much the County Council spends on day services How much the County Council spends on employment services
- What are the employment things we are doing really well in Leicestershire that we want to share with the rest of the country?

Section 4. Employment

What have we said?

- In 2010-11 there were 37 people with paid jobs. This is 17 less people than last year
- In 2010-11 there were 133 people doing voluntary work, including 11 that were doing paid work and voluntary work.
- This is 40 less people than last year
- We have an up to date plan for Valuing Employment Now
- There is some excellent work for young people who have person centred reviews from the age of 14
- This does not happen in all the special schools
- The County Council spends over 9 million pounds all together on day and employment services
- The information came from the people who collect information for the County Council, the people who look after the money and the Valuing People team

Section 5. Other local developments and good practice

This part of the report asks

- What are the projects and examples of really good working that we want to share with the rest of the country.
- For each things we put in this part of the report we had to include the name of someone people could contact to find out more.
- The report asked us to try and include examples that include family carers.

Section 5. Other local developments and good practice

What have we said?

So far we have included 3 examples

The Transition Pathway – used in special schools to help everyone agree how to make transition (the change from children's to adult's services) as good as possible

The Family Leadership training – a series of workshops for parents and carers. The workshops included things like national laws and policies that affect the lives of people with learning disabilities, and how to present information in a meeting

Keeping Safe CD – the interactive CD to help people with learning disabilities be safe in their own homes

Any other examples we should include?

Section 6. Declaration and agreement

What is this about?

- The Annual Report is the Partnership Board's report. It is not the County Council's report, or the Primary Care Trust's report, even though they have given us a lot of the information.
  - We need to agree that we are happy with the information in the report, including the bits that are not very good, or where it shows things have got worse.
  - This bit of the report makes sure the Partnership Board have discussed the report and agreed with the things we have put in it.
  - The Co Chairs have to sign the report, and we need to agree who will sign for the self-advocates and who will sign for the family carers.

Section 6. Declaration and agreement

We need to vote to say if we are happy with the report.

We will do this by asking everyone to hold up their yellow card if they are happy with the report.

If you are not happy with the report, you need to hold up your red card.

If you hold up your red card, please be ready to say what bits of the report you are not happy with, and what you think it should say.

What happens next?

The report has to be finished, agreed by the Board and sent to the Learning Disabilities Observatory by 29th July. They do lots of research to help us understand how the lives of people with learning disabilities are changing.

They will collect all the reports and put them on their website, so we can all see all the reports.

We will also send our report to the Regional Programme Board. They will be able to see what has changed for people with learning disabilities in the East Midlands.

Alison will be going to the Management Team meeting for Adults and Communities, to tell them what we found out when we wrote the report.

And she will go to the Adults, Communities and Health Overview and Scrutiny Committee to tell them about it. They are a group of elected Councillors who keep an eye on the work of the Adults and Department. They look to see what effect Cabinet decisions have on Health and Social Care.
